Biographical Sketch:

Robert J. Ursano, M.D. is Professor and Chairman of the Department of Psychiatry, and Director of the Center for the Study of Traumatic Stress, at the Uniformed Services University School of Medicine. His research and publications on the effects of traumatic events on individuals and groups are widely recognized as having made fundamental contributions to our understanding of the distress and illness that can result from trauma, disasters and terrorism. He is noted for bringing individual and public health issues together on critical issues. His Textbook of Disaster Psychiatry (Cambridge University Press) was recently released and is the first textbook ever published on the topic. In addition, Dr. Ursano is Editor in Chief of the distinguished psychiatric journal, Psychiatry: Interpersonal and Biological Processes, founded by Harry Stack Sullivan.
