Biographical Sketch:

Catherine Lord, Ph.D. is the Director of the University of Michigan Autism and Communication Disorders Center (UMACC), a professor of psychology, psychiatry and pediatrics at the same institution, and a Senior Research Professor at the Center for Human Growth and Development. She completed degrees in psychology at UCLA and Harvard, and a clinical internship at Division TEACCH at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Dr. Lord is a licensed clinical psychologist with specialties in diagnosis, social and communication development and intervention in autism spectrum disorders (ASD). She is renowned for her work in longitudinal studies of social and communicative development in ASD. She has also been involved in the development of standardized diagnostic instruments for ASD with colleagues from the United Kingdom and the United States (the Autism Diagnostic Observation Schedule (ADOS) an observational scale; and the Autism Diagnostic Interview – Revised (ADI-R) a parent interview), now considered the gold standard for research diagnoses all over the world.

Her work at UMACC involves (1) continued research in validity and longitudinal studies, early diagnosis of children with autism, and regression in children with autism, (2) clinical evaluations and diagnoses of children and adults who may have autism, and (3) training of university students in the ADOS and ADI-R through the University of Michigan.
