Biographical Sketch:

Ray Blanchard, Ph.D., is a Full Professor in the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Toronto and Head of Clinical Sexology Services at the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health (CAMH) in Toronto, Ontario. Clinical Sexology Services includes the Kurt Freund Laboratory (est. 1969), which is the oldest laboratory in North America for the psychophysiological assessment of sexual interests in sex offenders and other men with problematic sexual behavior. Dr. Blanchard's research interests are gender identity disorders, sexual orientation, paraphilias, and sexual offending. In 2004, he served as President of the International Academy of Sex Research.

Dr. Blanchard received his A.B. in psychology from the University of Pennsylvania in 1967 and his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1973. He then took up a Killam Postdoctoral Fellowship awarded by Dalhousie University, where he remained until 1976. He developed an interest in disorders and variations of human sexuality at his first job, a correctional institution, and he has worked full-time in this field since joining a CAMH hospital in 1980.
